Snowmass lodges step up renovations in 2006

(Snowmass Village, CO) The lodging community continues to renovate and reinvent itself to ensure that visitors are relaxed and comfortable whether they stay in the lap of luxury or in more economical lodging right on the slopes.

Snowmass offers twenty-nine different lodging options, ranging from budget choices to full service deluxe hotels to luxury condominiums or townhouses. And in Snowmass, budgetary constraints don't mean guests will be pushed further away from the slopes. Ninety-five percent of lodging is ski-in/ski out. Ease and convenience are the buzz words, whether you walk to one of Snowmass' 20+ restaurants for dinner or avoid having to lug your gear to get to the slopes. Guests can leave the car at home or in the parking lot, because even a trip to the grocery store is a breeze on the free property or town shuttle buses.

Snowmass will see many lodging upgrades before the 2006-07 winter season totaling over $35 million, including:

The Stonebridge Inn ($900,000)

The Stonebridge Inn is currently undergoing major improvements including an additional 1,000-sq-foot of meeting space added on the back of the Artisan restaurant which will be usable both in its own right as a conference room or banquet room or combined with the restaurant to create a very large event room approximately 1,400 sq-ft. A deck is being added to the bar area and will go out behind the bar towards the swimming pool. The gym will be moved from its current location to up under the bar deck. Completion: The deck should be opened by late June, and the conference space in September, 2006.

Woodrun V Townhomes ($7 million)

This project is an exterior and interior renovation project. Thirty-three townhouses have stunning new exteriors of stone, stucco, and copper, replaced windows, sliding doors, and new decks. Pool area upgrades now provide a year-round pool. Heated walkways, a new arrival center entry, a dedicated business center, major new landscaping, new signage, wireless high-speed Internet access in Business Center and Guest Lounge, and refurbished changing rooms in the Arrival Center complete these extensive renovations. These buildings are right next to the midway loading/unloading station of the new Elk Camp Gondola opening in 2006/2007.

Completion: December 2006
