Delta Expands Winter Service to Aspen/Snowmass, Colo. Only Nonstop Service from the East Will Operate Daily

ATLANTA, May 27, 2008– Delta Air Lines (NYSE: DAL) will offer customers more choices for a ski vacation beginning Dec. 20 with the return of expanded seasonal service between the slopes of Aspen/Snowmass, Colo. and the world’s largest airline hub in Atlanta.

Delta Connection carrier SkyWest Airlines will operate the new flights from the Aspen/Pitkin County Airport using the Bombardier CRJ 700 aircraft. Delta is the only airline to offer nonstop service from the East and provides convenient connecting service from around the world to Aspen/Snowmass.

“We are proud to offer Aspen the first and only East Coast daily non-stop via Delta’s global gateway to Atlanta,” said Bob Cortelyou, Delta’s senior vice president of network planning. “Atlanta is the only gateway that can offer access to Aspen from Delta’s vast domestic network and over 90 destinations in Europe and Latin America.”

“With new daily nonstop service between Delta’s largest hub and the most conveniently located ski resort airport in the world, visitors from Florida, New York and hundreds of other markets throughout the East Coast and around the world will be able to enjoy more convenient access to Aspen/Snowmass than ever before,” said Bill Tomcich, president of Stay Aspen Snowmass, the resort’s official central reservations. “This exciting announcement is going to come as very welcome news to locals, businesses and visitors from across the globe.”

Flights to Delta’s ski destinations, including its returning service to Aspen/Snowmass, are now available for sale to customers on delta.com. Delta’s new service from Atlanta to Aspen/Snowmass will complement daily service from Salt Lake City and will operate based on the following schedule:
